A Day At School

Kim wakes up early. She has a bath, eats her breakfast, packs her snack box in her bag, wears her school uniform and trots off to the bus stop.

There she meets her friends, Bob and Jane. Bob's dad got him a puppy last week. Bob loves the puppy and has named her Meg. Bob tells Kim and Jane that he is sad, because he will not be able to see Meg all day.

Kim pats Bob on the back and offers him some candy to cheer him up. That makes Bob smile. Kim shares some candy with Jane too. The kids all suck on their candy and wait

Look! The bus is here. The bus stops and the conductor opens the door. He smiles at the children. "Good morning boys and girls. Careful. Mind the step."

The children step in one by one and say hello to the conductor. Then they go find seats.

Kim sees her best friend Sera. Sera is saving a seat for Kim. Kim sits next to her. Kim tells Sera about her new doll house. "It has a tiny wooden chest of drawers, a wooden bed, and tiny pillows." Kim says.

"Can I come play with your doll house?" Sera asks.

"Yes. Please bring some of your kitchen toys and tea set too. We can set up a party at the doll house." Kim says as the bus stops in front of the school.

"That is going to be fun!"

Sera and Kim sit together in class. Teacher says that they have to draw each other. Kim has fun drawing Sera's curly hair, big round eyes, small nose and big smile. Sera draws Kim with her two long plaits, lotus eyes, pointed chin and dimples.

At snack time Sera and Kim share their snacks. Sera has salad and Kim has dry fruits.

After snack time they do some writing. Today they learn the letter 'K'. "Yay, K is for Kim!" Kim says with a big smile.

Play time is the best part of the school day. Sera and Kim love to swing. They also play hide and seek with Bob and Jane.

Soon it is time to go home. They all get on the bus. The bus stops near Sera's house. Kim is sad to say goodbye. But Sera's mama will bring her over in the evening to play tea party with Kim and her doll house. Kim is looking forward to that.
